

SHORT CV

Dr. Ioannis A. Ragies

Associate Professor, Hellenic Military Academy (Σ.Σ.Ε.)

Dr. Ioannis A. Ragies was born in Kos / Dodecanese Islands and studied political science (Panteion University, Athens), contemporary military science (University of Birmingham, UK) & international relations and strategic studies (University of Lancaster, UK & Panteion University). He is Associate Professor of international relations /European- Transatlantic defence, Department of Military Science, Hellenic Military Academy (Σ.Σ.Ε.) & Adjunct Professor of international relations / diplomacy/ crisis management, Hellenic National Defence College (Σ.ΕΘ.Α.). He is Academic Director & Lecturer, International Semester, European Security and Defence College/ESDC (2017-18 -) & Academic Expert & Lecturer, International Military Leadership Academy/ IMLA, EU Erasmus+ Strategic Partnership (2017-19). Recent publications: "Crisis Management and Crisis Leadership" (e-Book- MALF, Poland: 2019, forthcoming); "Theories in Defence Interdependence. The case of NATO" (Sideris, Athens: 2014); "Public Diplomacy and Strategic Communication in Multinational Military Crisis Management Operations" (Stamoulis, Athens: 2014). Research interests: NATO/ European defence; military strategy; military leadership; crisis management; defence/ military diplomacy; strategic communication/ public diplomacy; Emergency Management; information operations.