

54th World Military Sailing Championship

Tuesday, June 13, 2023, the 4th day of the 54th CISM World Military Sailing Championship continued with five sailing races.

Team Brazil, remained in first position on the scoreboard, winning the twenty-eighth, the twenty-ninth and thirty-second races (R28-1, R29-1, R32-1).

The Greek crew, taking three third places today, at the twenty-ninth, the thirtieth and the thirtieth-first races (R29-3, R30-3, R31-3), remained in second place.

The Italian team, despite the good effort the whole team did, by winning the thirtieth-first race (R31-1) and having good matches at the rest, will compete in tomorrow's program for third place, at the small final against the French team, which was imposed at the thirty-second race (R32-1) and finished in fourth place.

After the end of the races of the fourth day, Sergeant Cian Paolo, a crew member of the Italian team, said that the location where the games are held is amazing and that all crews compete on the same terms.

The crew member of the team of Spain, Lieutenant Jose Rey-Seijo Alcola, declared himself completely satisfied with the organization and the high level of know-how of both athletes and organizers. He also said that his team started the races very well, but did not have the same continuity and hope for a good placement at the final ranking.

The end of the races found team Brazil in the first place and Greek team in second, forming the pair of tomorrow's big final for the winner. On the podium they will be flanked by the winner of the small final between the teams of Italy and France.

The teams' ranking of the fourth day of the Championship is as the table below:
